SINGER-SONGWRITER

About

Kayla Morse (born January 18, 1996), known professionally as Y'La (E-Luh), is an American R&B singer and songwriter. Hailing from the vibrant music scene of Detroit, the birthplace of Motown, Y'La is part of the creative resurgence emerging from that region.

Operating in the alternative space, her style is a little bit of contemporary R&B blended with the influence of other genres like neo-soul, gospel, and funk. This versatility gives her work a traditional sound but with a zany, weird edge.

Y'La writes songs about life, love, and heartbreak, weaving narrative threads together to tell a story. Deeply connected to the music, she allows the words to reveal themselves in her songwriting process.
